On 8 January 2012 the African National Congress (ANC) of South Africa, the oldest African nationalist organisation on the continent, celebrated its one hundredth anniversary. This historic event has generated significant public debate within both the ANC and South African society at large.

One Hundred Years of the ANC is a collection of new work by renowned South African and international scholars which opens up debate around controversial or obscured aspects of the ANC's century-long history.

There is no better time to critically reflect on the ANC's historical trajectory and struggle against colonialism and apartheid than in its centennial year.
